JOE SLAVOSKI-?

THE MOST REVEREND MICHAEL J. HOBAN

The Most Reverend Michael J. Hoban, D.D., was born in Waterloo, New Jersey on June 6, 1853, the son of Patrick and Agnes Hennigan Hoban. The family then moved to Hawley, Pennsylvania in Wayne County. Born of Irish immigrant parents, Michael was the first of seven children. His family urged strong family ties among them, and each child was given the opportunity to choose and to pursue whatever profession attracted their attentions.

At age fourteen, Michael was enrolled as a student at St. Francis Xavier College in New York City. In the spring of 1871 his education was interrupted because of the death of his father. To help his mother he spent the next thirty months behind a Hawley store counter. With his mother's blessings Michael again picked up the threads of his own career in the late summer months of 1873.

The following year, he decided most definitely upon his vocation in life. Determined to become a priest, he entered St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook. At age 22, the young seminarian was sent to the North American College in Rome. Five years later he was ordained to the priesthood in the Church of St. John Lateran by Monaco Cardinal Valetta.

Upon returning to the Scranton Diocese he was assigned to Sts. Peter and Paul Parish in Towanda as an assistant pastor. His first pastorate was St. John Nepomucene Church in Troy. After eighteen months of service at St. John's, Father Hoban was asked to found a new parish in Ashley (St. Leo's). In six years time he established himself as a master builder. More importantly, Catholics and Protestants alike praised him in glowing terms as the epitome of everything a pastor should be.

In 1895 the Vatican decided to elevate Father Michael Hoban to the position of Coadjutor Bishop of the Diocese of Scranton, with the intention that he would relieve some of the burden on the then 89 year old Bishop William O'Hara. Bishop Hoban was still pastor of St. Leo's, Ashley, for the time being. Before long however, Bishop O'Hara was forced by the limitations of his health to delegate the younger prelate to act in his place.

With the death of Bishop O'Hara on February 3, 1898, the administration of the Diocese of Scranton passed into the capable hands of Bishop Michael John Hoban. Apart from the sense of loss, the transition attracted very little notice. For the previous three years, the young prelate had been gradually winning for himself a public recognition as a truly competent individual in his own right.

While the diocese was under his direction, in order to coordinate the varying abilities of the religious teachers and to promote uniformity of student achievement, the bishop created a Diocesan Board of Education and appointed a Superintendent of parochial schools in 1918. Understandably, the bishop's move was hailed by everyone as a much needed step in the right direction.

On November 13, 1926 the reins of the diocese passed from the hands of Michael J. Hoban. At the time of his death he left to his successor a network of sixty-five schools, the cooperative assistance of nine communities of nuns plus a single community of brothers and a diocesan agency invested with the power of over-all direction.

Joe,
Good luck to a good kid in my later classes. Keep up the hard work in basketball.
Take care. Jim

Joe,
I guess I have to die a little. (Just kidding) You're really a nice guy. Never forget Julie. Keep quiet until then.
Julie

Joe,
To a real nice guy. I've known for a pretty long time. Good bucks with whatever you like & whatever you do in life.
Love, Luck, & Success in the future.

Debbi

Joe,
To a nice guy who I met this year
Remember all the good times we had in Homeroom
Luck + success always

ST. MICHAEL THE ARCHANGEL

When Bishop Hoban High School was established, it was decided that its spiritual care would be placed in the hands of St. Michael the Archangel. St. Michael, whose name means "who is like God," is one of the seven archangels mentioned in the Old Testament.

St. Michael is described as being the guardian of the chosen people and the protector of heaven. He appears in the books of Daniel and Revelation as a military leader fighting for justice and righteousness.

St. Michael is symbolically pictured, usually in armor, standing over a defeated Satan. In his left hand Michael holds a staff and in his right, the scales of justice.

In 1972, the first Bishop Hoban High School yearbook was named in honor of the school's patron Saint Michael the Archangel.

What is an

Just what is an Argent? The word itself has a variety of definitions, the most common being "silver in color," "whiteness," "shining," "something of value" or "attractive to the eye." Rather than attempt to place a concrete definition on an abstract word, the 1977 Arc intends to catch the spirit of the word. We have found that "Argent" is much more than a word — it is a way of life — it is a unique group of people who travel the halls of Bishop Hoban High School. Each individual member of the school community contributes to the whole, fulfilling the need to unite and make the spirit of the word "Argent" come to life. Involvement, therefore, plays a key role in perceiving a sincere concept of "Argent."

Argent?

It is through involvement that the school functions and continues to grow. We make the school what it is, determine its course and set a pace by which we create a special identity for Hoban through our enthusiastic spirit — our Argent spirit!

The combined efforts of the administration, faculty, and student body are invaluable to the preservation of the real meaning of the word "Argent."

You will most certainly find a different definition of "Argent" on any page of this book. The question "What is an Argent?" is answered in the actions, the faces, and the spirit reflected in every picture.

"Argent" is exemplified in the sincere determination and dedication to the sports and activities of the school.

It is through this Argent spirit that excellence and accomplishments of high caliber bring honor to Hoban.

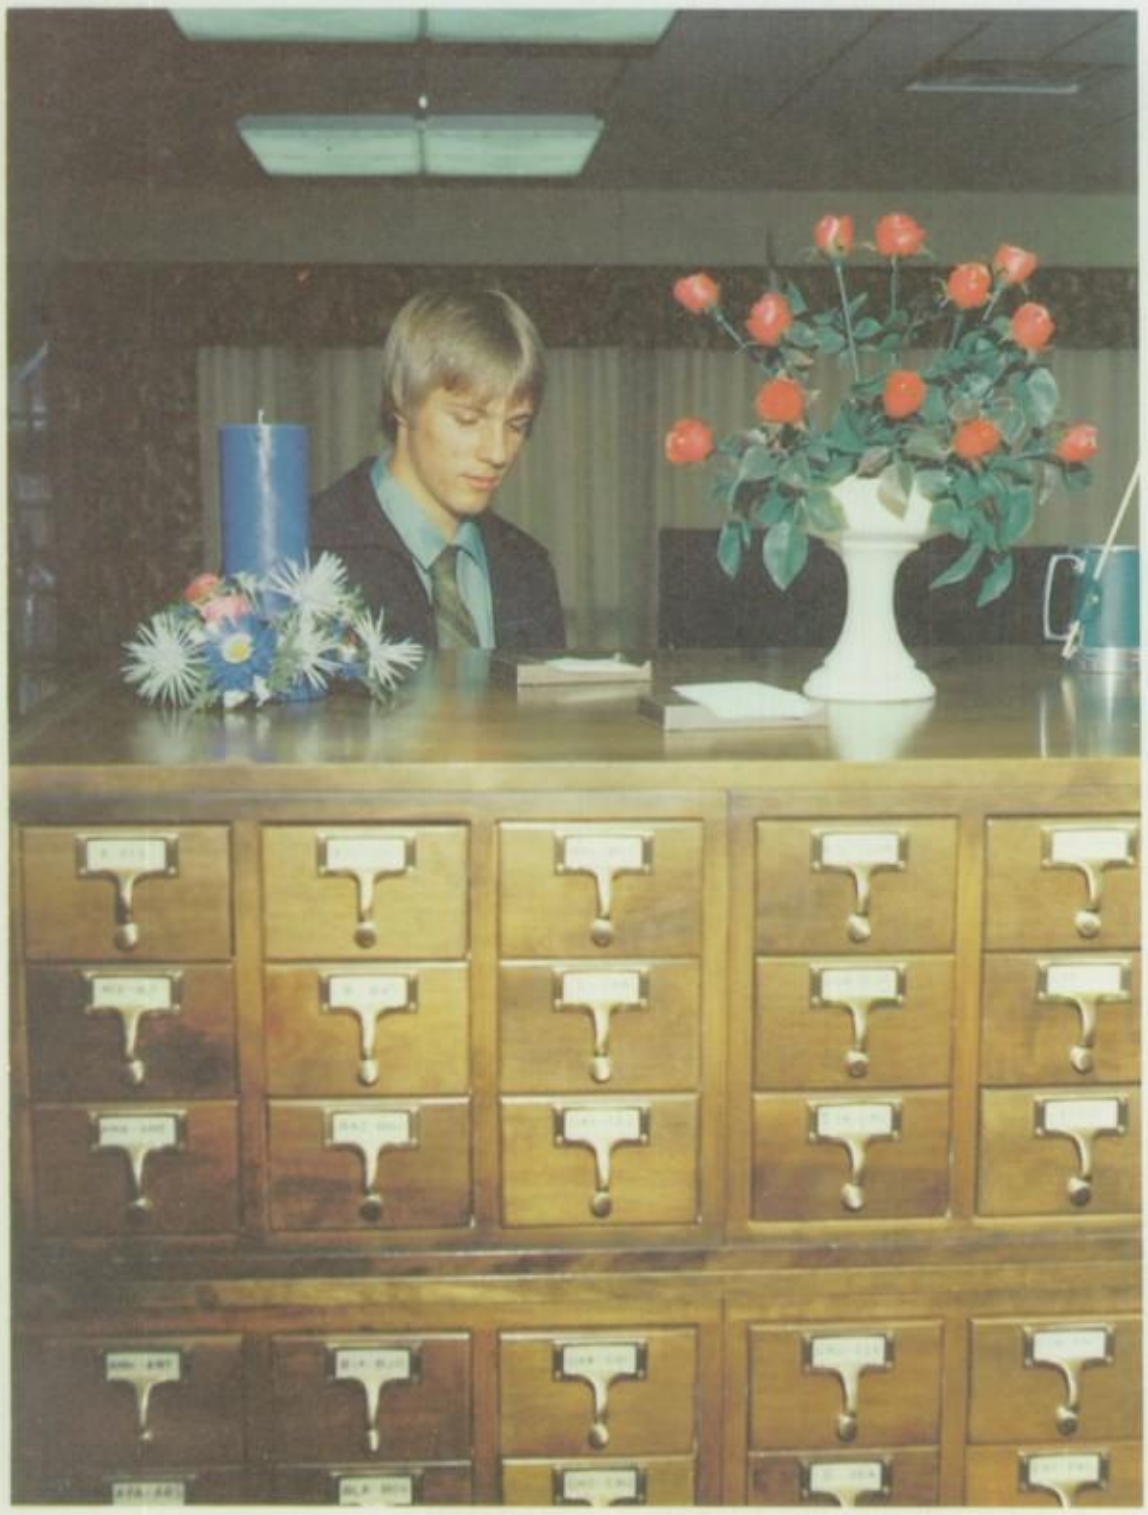
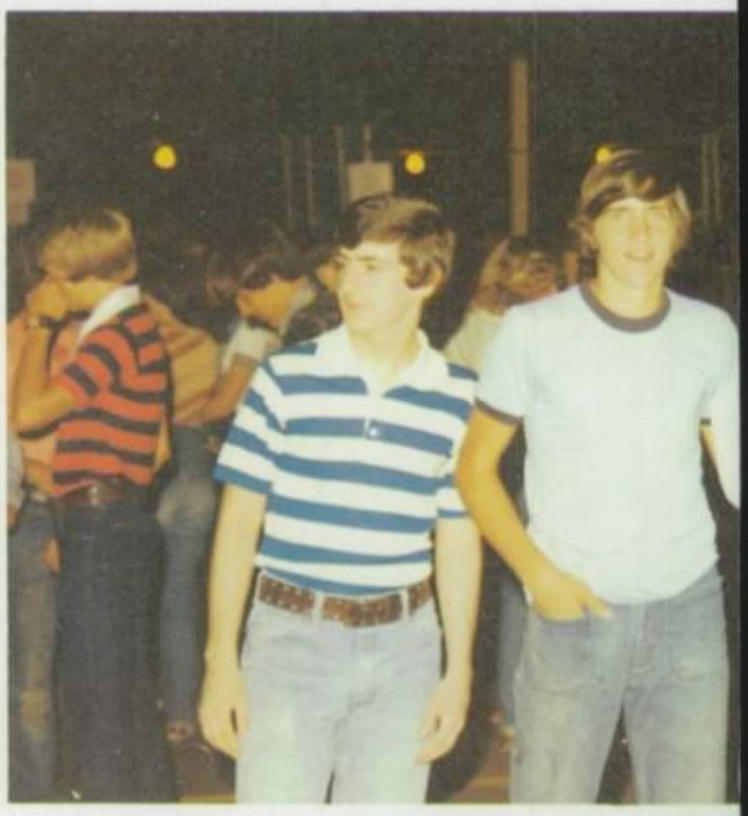
As Argents, we assume the emotional flow of the student body by becoming part of the character of the school.





Sharing in the accomplishments of Bishop Hoban High School means working in unison to achieve goals and attain advancements.

Through communal sharing of ideas and personal contributions, we unite.

"Argent" is illustrated in the devotion and superior achievement of students on every level: moral, academic, and social.

Our Argent identity does not end after four years. What we have begun here we draw from for our entire life.

We carry with us memories, attitudes, and faith, all of which help us to face
our future with less apprehension and more hope.

The goals of any school cannot be achieved unless they are directed by capable people who sincerely believe in what they are doing. Father Burns, Sister Gemma, and Mr. Majikes are fine examples of educators whose experience in secondary school administration has proven beneficial to all at Hoban.

Guiding Bishop Hoban High School since its inception, Father Burns shares both his religious and academic philosophies while providing an atmosphere which allows for growth and harmony.

Sister Gemma, also in her sixth year, smoothed out the final minor difficulties encountered with the computer scheduling. Schedules which often confused students and teachers alike proved no problem in her capable hands. Sister Gemma took time from her busy schedule to teach an analytic geometry/pre-calculus course to seniors.

Mr. Majikes continued to handle the daily matters dealing with attendance, discipline, and general student welfare. In addition to his administrative duties Mr. Majikes taught a course in World Cultures.

The cafeteria is used for a variety of activities outside of the lunch period, such as cheering and play practice, chorus rehearsals and as a place for scenery construction. It is here in the cafeteria that students socialize, study together, get together, break up, make up, and take time to catch their breath and relax.

Youngest Argents unite to meet new challenges

In becoming a freshman your thoughts are most certainly encompassed by the newness and challenge of change — high school. By accepting the forthcoming responsibilities you are fulfilling the need to break out of the patternized life style of your previous eight years. Now you experience anxiety intriguingly coated with curiosity. The total newness and awesome impression of the school itself fills you with wonder. In the excitement, you become part of the fastpaced "society" of the high school. But only too soon you step from "losing yourself" in the vast expanse of corridors to "finding yourself" readjusting to a new type of lifestyle for the next three years to come.

As a sophomore, a slight newness still lingers, but with the adjustment, the sometimes confusing days of the previous year have disappeared. Sophomores observe the "upperclassmen" with a twinge of envy for the freedom they so boisterously display. At times, school feels as though it is all books and study; however, the importance of education is incomparable, for it is now that the pace is set for future years. Now too, is the time for your Argent spirit to be in action — through involvement. Introduction to the "life" of the school is experienced in the activities and sports happening all around you.

Academics

Bishop Hoban High School is a reservoir of many talents. These talents are given every opportunity to be developed as a result of the efforts and dedication of the directors of the school's extra-curricular programs. The fast- growing number of trophies and awards displayed throughout the school serve as proof of the success of these programs.

Working year-round, Mr. Higgins and Mr. Faust schedule and supervise all athletic events. With enthusiasm and concern they see that every Argent is given the opportunity to direct their energies in a combined effort with other teammates to bring honor to Hoban and to learn the true meaning of sportsmanship.

Sister Gertrude serves as the coordinator of all of the school's non-athletic, extra-curricular functions. Through her efforts the clubs are outlined, their regulations enforced, and all students are given a chance to get involved.

Religion classes stress greater self-awareness

Bishop Hoban's religion faculty recognizes the fact that each student is searching for a deeper knowledge of God and their own relationship to Him. Many of the answers they seek are provided in their religious studies. Religion is the most essential component of Hoban's curriculum, and serves as the initial motivating factor behind the spiritual awareness which is present in the school. Bishop Hoban is a unique Christian community, not in words, but in actions. This strong feeling confers a spirit of hope which each student carries with them when they leave.

Sister Redempta checks the progress of her senior religion students during a test.

Father Zavacki captures the attention of his class.

Sophomores seem to enjoy their study of the Christian and his community.

An enthusiastic Mr. Gilbert gets his moral guidance students involved in a class discussion.

Mr. Lyons and his mechanical drawing students examine a three-dimensional scale.

An artful design flows from the brush of Maryanne Piazza.

Fine arts enrich talents

Once again Mr. Lyons, Sister Gerard, and Mr. Zionkowski found themselves surrounded by a group of freshly budding artists interested in developing their talents. The aspiring artists joined with the second and third year art students in perfecting their creative skills. At anyone of the day's 11 class periods the activity was heavy as mechanical drawing, sculpture, pottery, crafts, and advanced art courses kept hands busy and minds active.

At the other end of the building from sunrise to sunset the melodious sound of instruments and voices could be heard. More than half the Argent population passes through the music room each week. Miss Rosemary Chromey joined the Music Department this year teaching music appreciation to freshmen and directing the junior/senior chorus and seasonal singers.

English, social studies explore many aspects of man's development

Drawing her students interest is not a difficult task for Sister Ancilla.

While sometimes struggling through vocabulary and grammar studies, students were treated to adventure, biography, poetry, drama, and much more as the English courses opened creative horizons. Freshmen were introduced to a new literary world and shared with ROMEO AND JULIET in their romantic plight. Sophomores studied the works of the great American authors as the juniors journied across the sea sharing in a pilgrimage to Canterbury and the tragedy of MACBETH. Seniors were again offered a variety of half-year electives ranging from speech and journalism to writing courses and the supernatural. Sister Catherine, SCC and Sister Leonita, RSM arrived in September and added their talents to the English Department faculty.

Moving away from the year of the Bicentennial celebration and the presidential election emphasized the importance of the Social Studies Department and the interest it had to offer each student. No other subject area can better analyze the events which range from man's first recorded history to the most current events. Freshmen through seniors took time to delve into the many global problems facing mankind. The senior electives dealing with law, economics, ethnic studies, government, sociology and foreign policy were just a few of the social studies courses which proved exciting and popular.

Mr. Davenport uses the overhead projector to review with his Honors English III class before a test.

In an election year, Mr. Blaum's history class discusses the candidates and how they stand on the issues.

Languages open doors to new worlds

Sister Eugenia Marie takes an individual interest in her Spanish students.

The ability to understand how people of other nations live and speak is a stepping stone to completing the bridge of communication. Hoban students rally to study foreign languages and to hopefully gain insight, tolerance, and respect for other cultures. Spanish, French, German and Latin classes are brought to life as students and teachers work together to master the languages and cultures of other parts of the world. Latin classes increased in numbers this year as the erroneously termed "dead language" came to life. Sister Mary Bernardo, RSM assumed the chairmanship of the department this year and Sister Mary Felician, RSM joined the Foreign Language Department as an instructor in the German language and culture.

Mr. Costantino invites an opinion from a French I enthusiast.

Sister Felician encourages her students to "sprechen Deutsch."

Freshmen find the Spanish language a new and interesting experience.

A surprised Diane Mocion realizes she has the correct answer in her Trig class.

From the calculations of math to the dissections in science, the Argents attempt to increase their skills. While studying algebra, geometry, and trig, students learn to apply basic principles to more challenging problems. A variety of courses allow all to pursue their own interests and challenge themselves in order to advance their knowledge of mathematical and scientific concepts. Recognizing their mutual roles in preparing students for college work and lifetime careers in math and science-related fields the two departments work to provide the finest possible opportunities. Hoban's four, well equipped, modern laboratories offer first-hand experiences. Besides minor chemical problems and squeamishness over frogs (alive and dead) it is this very self-discovery that best allows the student to learn by answering questions, experimenting, and calculating.

Chemistry students begin with the basics as Mr. Brenzovich demonstrates a problem dealing with the use of the scale.

Future secretaries perfect their typing skills.

Mrs. Ochreiter's record keeping class works carefully to balance their records.

With the age of computers and the rapidly changing economy closing in on us business training seems more vital than ever. Future secretaries, bookkeepers, accountants and other career-minded students received a practical and extensive training in a wide variety of business courses. Bishop Hoban's Business Department offered the newest ideas in keeping up with the ever-changing business world. All of the courses and field trips taken by the students were designed to give practical insight into understanding and using the principles that govern the business world.

Vo-tech offers experience for practical careers

Bishop Hoban students interested in preparing for such trades as electronics, horticulture, sheet metal, carpentry, audio-visual communications, plumbing, and a variety of other trades are given an opportunity to travel to the Wilkes-Barre Area Vo-Tech school each day. The students obtain their academic credits and religious studies at Bishop Hoban. The second half of their day is spent in specialized training at a skill they hope to master. Some of the students also get their experience through approved work-experience programs.

Mary Clare Pascoe and Joanne Hudock gain first-hand experience in studying horticulture.

Freshmen respond quickly to Mr. Maloney's question during a health class discussion.

A little bit of energy and a desire to have fun are all that are needed for one particular class at Hoban. Gym classes provide a lift for the spirits and a chance to forget studies and problems for a few minutes. Coordination and sportsmanship are developed through group-oriented sports including soccer, baseball, basketball, hockey, volleyball and kickball. Completing the physical educations is the study of health offered to the freshmen. The objectives of this course are to make the students aware of the dangers and needs for their physical well-being.

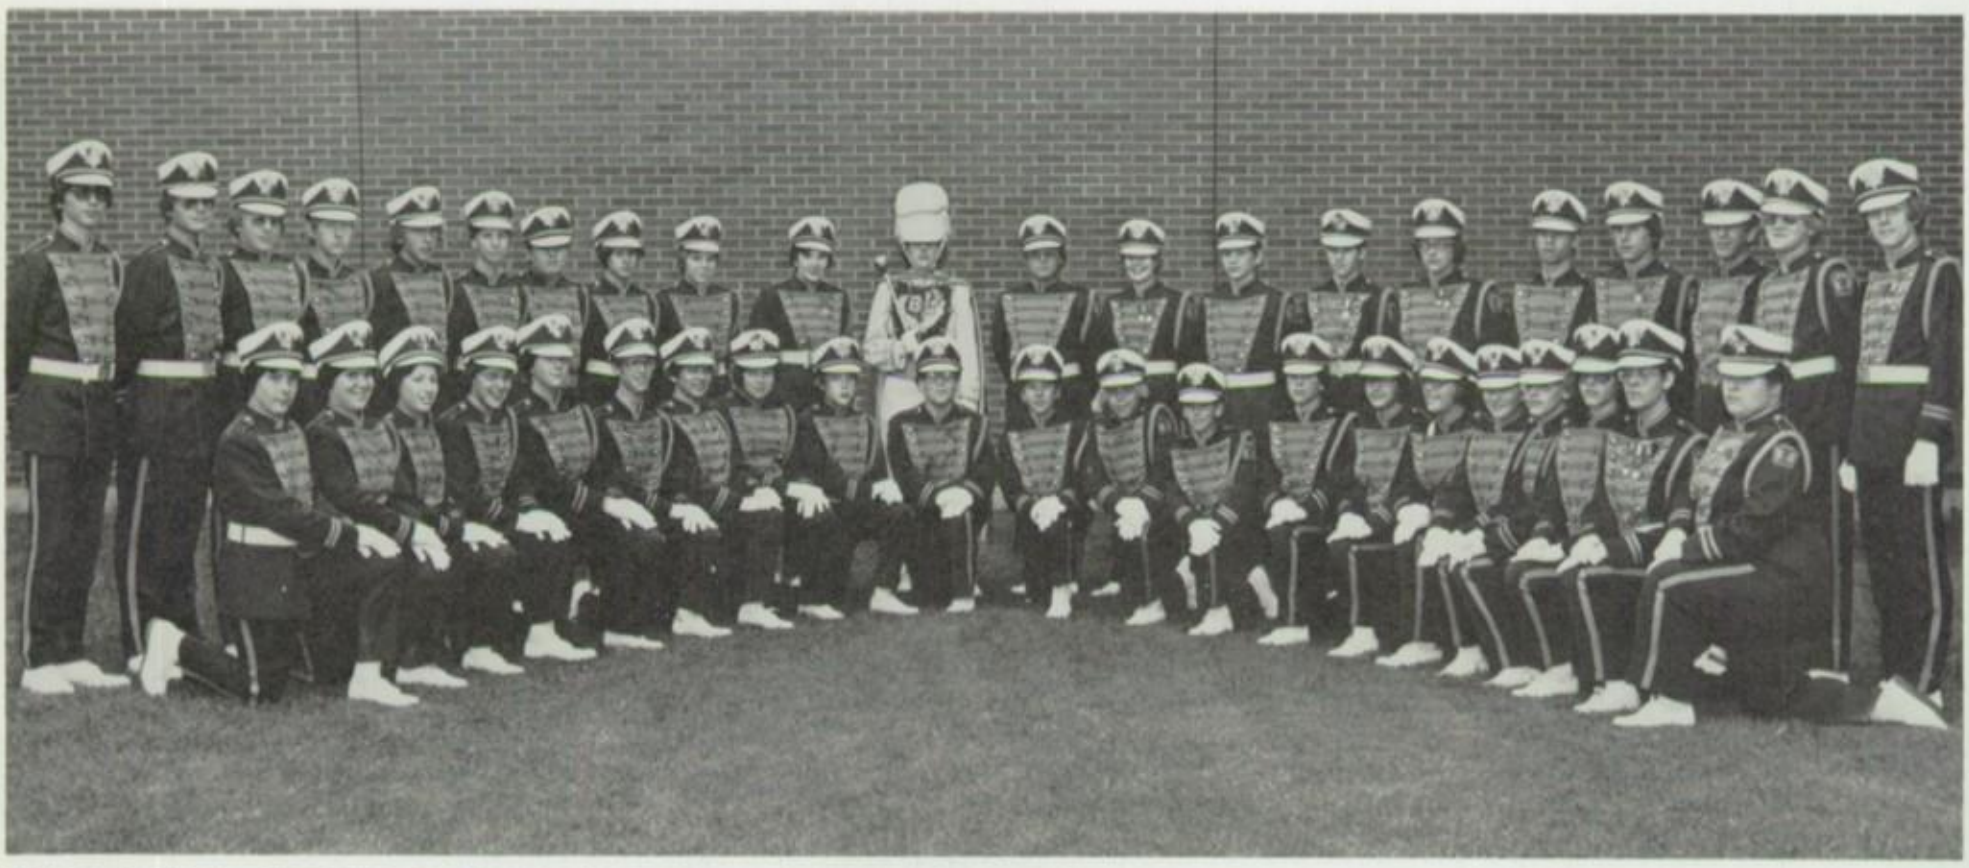
Band, majorettes echo Hoban's spirit

The school's marching unit, consisting of majorettes, color guard, strutters, and marching band completed another successful season of performances. The individual units, steadily growing and improving, entertained half-time crowds and proved to be a source of pride for Bishop Hoban High School.

At the 4th annual Red and Blue Club Band Day Contest held at the Wilkes-Barre area stadium the color guard, majorettes, and strutters placed third out of ten competing band fronts.

The marching band and strutters are under the direction of Mrs. Carmella Faust. Sister John Ann, CSB, directs the color guard and Miss Dolores Barno serves as moderator of the majorettes.

Sharon Kaminski contributes her talents to Hoban's marching band.



MARCHING BAND: KNEELING: Rita Kwiatkowski, Josie Passeri, Melanie Filipczyk, Carol Podczasy, Celeste Filipczyk, Joe Laub, Donna Snipas, Anne Quackenbush, John Loftus, Bridget Craig, Tom Jones, Barry Kwiatkowski, Mark Henry, Erin Yankowski, Mary Blizman, Lorraine Henry, Debbie Dobash, Elaine Czachor, Ellen Luksic, Jean Supplee, Karen Buynak. STANDING: Herman Bunsick, Dave Sherbenco, Andy Czapowskyj, Dave Coburn, Joan Slawich, Lorraine Galat, Frank Estabrook, Colleen Swithers, Sharon Kaminski, Judy Obaza, Jule Supplee, drum majorette, Jude Zasada, Susan Henry, Paul Konopelski, Janine Henry, Emily Sisco, Mike Hall, Joe Schanne, Kirk Habinowski, Vince Stranch, Jeff Teuffel.

MAJORETTES: KNEELING: Judy Podczasy, Connie Zelinski, Roberta Bunsick, Patty McKeown, Susan Boyle. STANDING: Lisa Cherundolo, Lori Barry, Karen Antonini, Lisa Charnichko, Diane Mocion, Diane Kushner.

Band members' dedication pays off as the always impressive Argents offer another fine showing.

Coordination is the key to perfection as shown by majorettes Connie Zelinski and Patty McKeown.

The debate team, under the direction of Sister Ancilla, IHM worked diligently throughout the year preparing for a number of local and state-wide tournaments. Varsity members Judy Katany and Ed McCarthy competed in tournaments in New York and Pittsburgh.

Mr. Davenport's forensic team participated in local competitions. Notable speakers included Joe Laub, Andy Kurovsky, and John Ruth.

King's College sponsored a model U.N. session. Hoban students were assigned to represent the Republic of South Africa and Cuba. The South Africa delegates won the assembly and the Cuban delegation was also given special recognition.

Council work benefits students

Junior and sophomore student council representatives serve their fellow classmates by communicating their ideas and helping to organize and supervise the various council activities.

Michael Janov is sworn in as Hoban's student council president by Father Burns.

During the year the members of the Student Council once again generously gave of their time and energy for the betterment of the school and community.

In Scranton, at the ordination of Auxiliary Bishop James C. Timlin members of the council formed an honor guard. Homerooms contributed canned goods and turkeys for food baskets at Thanksgiving.

By sponsoring dances, skating parties, the magazine drive and the annual candy sale the council eased the financial burden of school expenses. Besides these special activities, council members aided daily in helping with attendance, hall duty, and preparing for school masses and assemblies.

9th GRADE STUDENT COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES: FRONT: Colleen Wolfe, Mary Jane McGinley, Mary Lynn Stofey, Janet Kupstas, Ed Benkoski, Bob Frank, Andrea O'Hara, Leah Koval. BACK: Ann Cunningham, Pat Castellani, Bill Heck, Joe Slavoski, Bill Dotzel, Matt Rudolph.

Mrs. Majikes and co-captains Nancy Delaney and Maureen Bedner discuss some last minute details before departing for Hoban's opening football game.

Hoban's cheering squads spent the summer preparing for the opening football game and continued until the end of the basketball season in March leading the Argent fans in supporting the many athletic teams. Earlier in the year the varsity cheerleaders captured first place in the Wyoming Valley Mall annual cheering contest. Nancy Delaney and Maureen Bedner acted as co-captains of the varsity squad and Mrs. Lore Majikes served as advisor to all three groups.

Marianne Murray, Joan Rozanski and Karen Pascucci do one of the more complex cheers.

Jackie Lyons goes through the symbolic gesture of turning Mary Rose Kane's ring.

On September 29, 1976 the Junior Ring Day ceremony was held in the school auditorium. Parents and guests joined the juniors for the celebration of the Mass. Following the liturgy, rings were blessed and distributed by Father Burns. As they received their rings the juniors were officially marked as members of Bishop Hoban's "Class of '78." All went smoothly thanks to Sister Leonita who organized the ceremony. The day proved to be exciting and memorable for the Junior Class.

Homerooms demonstrate generous spirit

Dedicated homeroom mission moderators, an energetic advisor, and a strong rivalry between homerooms continued to spur the Argents on as they generously donated each Friday morning to the mission collection. Cheers from the various homerooms could be heard each Friday afternoon following the announcement of the homerooms which contributed the most. First and second place banners traveled from room to room each week. As usual, the seniors held the edge in contributing. Sister Redempta and the moderators met weekly in the Chapel for a brief prayer service.

Spanish students share in special liturgy

Father Burns celebrates Mass in the Spanish language honoring Our Lady of Guadalupe.

Honoring Our Lady of Guadalupe in a special way is becoming a tradition at Bishop Hoban High School. On December 10, Hoban's many Spanish students filled the chapel as Father Burns celebrated Mass in the Spanish language. The students prepared for many weeks under the direction of Spanish instructors Sister Eugenia Marie, Mr. John Barno and Mr. Richard Barno. The hymns and responses were sung by the Spanish Choraleer Group. The students now look forward again to paying homage in this special way to the Patroness of the Americas.

Mr. Richard Barno and Mr. John Barno lead the students in singing Spanish hymns during the Mass.

Language students explore foreign cultures

Sister Mary Felician, RSM and the German Club officers, Karlene Kosmach, vice-president; Gary Yenkowski, president; Bill Thornton, secretary and Linda Yenkowski, treasurer, meet to make arrangements for the next German Club meeting.

Supplementing their language studies, students gathered monthly for language club meetings. Officers were chosen and various projects were begun as students and teachers worked to obtain a better understanding of the culture and the people of the countries whose language they study. Interest and enthusiasm ran high as evidenced by the increased membership in the clubs.

Talented vocalists, musicians share in district events

Hoban's music department offers each student a chance to participate in a number of extra-curricular music activities. Learning to play an instrument or developing vocal talents comes natural to the many students who study these arts under the direction of Mrs. Faust, Mr. Rusnak and Miss Chromey.

Twelve students represented the school in three different district events. District band, chorus, and orchestra provided an excellent opportunity to show how exceptional the music program is at Hoban.

Donna Snipas, Susan Henry, Jeff Teufel, and Emily Sisco had the honor of representing Bishop Hoban High School at the annual District Orchestra.

Arc '77 depicts true Argent meaning

Developing the theme "What is an Argent?", the 1977 Arc staff put forth every effort to bring about a better understanding of the often asked question. Throughout the book various aspects of the word "Argent" are captured in an effort to better acquaint the Hoban community with its meaning.

The staff began planning for this year's book last spring, breaking for the summer and returning in late August to put plans into action.

Michael Delaney led the staff of seniors and juniors. Mr. Martin Kane supervised the '77 staff as they became familiar with cropping, writing copy, captions, headlines, drawing layouts and meeting deadlines.

While all involved found the pace hectic, they also found it to be an enjoyable and rewarding experience.

Deep in thought Jim Baran looks on as Teresa Schanne draws an art design for the yearbook.

Proudly looking over the planner for Arc '77 are: Mike Delaney, editor, Teresa Schanne, Jim Baran, associate editors and Mr. Martin Kane, advisor.

Deciding on layouts is an easy task for experienced seniors Marianne Murray, Marian Alles, Cindy Behm, Elaine Mock and Joanne Kemmerer.

Argents create Christmas spirit

The holiday season sparked fervor at Hoban this year. The yuletide spirit culminated during a Christmas assembly, which was followed by the celebration of the Eucharist. The orchestra and Seasonal Singers added to the festive atmosphere. The Footlighters, under the direction of Sister Mariella, SCC presented "Let the People Speak," a modern-day Christmas play about the Nativity.

In the Nativity play, Frank Werhun and Peggy Mascelli portray a contemporary Joseph and Mary.

The Christmas Spirit pervades the hearts of Hoban Students as exemplified in tree decorating and the giving of gifts.

A handful of dedicated students is the real answer to any club's success. This is proven true by the C.L.C., Business Club and THE QUILL.

The members of the Christian Life Community went out into the community and brought aid and friendship to the elderly and needy.

The newly-formed Business Club sponsored a number of successful activities and a trip to New York. They also advanced their knowledge of the business world through guest speakers and educational films.

THE QUILL grew in popularity and continued its high literary standards with its offering of faculty and student writings and art work.

Special program marks Catholic Schools Week

James Baran, president of the Quill and Scroll Society looks on as Sister Gemma reads the names of the new members being inducted into the society. Father Burns congratulates senior yearbook staff member Patty Pahler upon her induction.

During a special assembly in celebration of Catholic Schools Week, members of the Father Gerald J. Burns Chapter of the Quill and Scroll Society were inducted. Father Burns administered the pledge of loyalty to the 17 new members for their outstanding achievements in the field of journalism and presented six seniors with certificates of achievement for distinguished service on the publication staffs of the school.

Present at the assembly was Wilkes-Barre City Mayor Walter Lisman. Mayor Lisman proclaimed February 6-12, "Catholic Schools Week." Father John Green was the main speaker. The activities of the day culminated in the celebration of Mass at St. Mary's Church.

Events of the week included open house at the school, special prayer services, and activities in many classes which contributed to the observance of this special week. Banners and posters made by English and religion classes were placed throughout the school. The entire week's activities were organized and carried out under the direction of Sister Leonita, R.S.M. who along with a committee of students spent many cold days in the school during the energy crisis preparing for the special week marking the contribution of Catholic schools to America.

Winter activities enjoyed at outing

Senior year is always fast moving, hectic and many times chaotic. This year was no exception. The senior outing at Mt. Airy rolled around before anyone had time to catch his breath.

The makings of a perfect day were on hand — a new-fallen snow, a crisp, clear day and an enthusiastic group of seniors rarin' to go.

As one looked around the lodge and its facilities Hoban seniors could be seen everywhere — on horses, snowmobiles, ski lifts, the slopes (on and off their feet), the tennis courts, the pool, the skating rink, and just lounging.

As the day progressed, people trekked to Mt. Airy in droves to take advantage of the fabulous winter weather. With the enormous crowd organization seemed difficult to maintain and a strain was placed on the vacationers. In spite of this, the seniors enjoyed the activities and each other's company and that in itself made up for any complications.

Here comes trouble — Ted Horn, Joe Pekol, and Mike Sharry saunter down the stairway in route to lunch.

Dorothy Hamill, eat your heart out! A group of willing but inexperienced skaters put their blades to the ice.

"Necessity is the mother of invention." Roomless Ed Kosenick and Leo Kucewicz find a place to recline.

Pools sharks Lou Czachor, Bridget Craig and Lori Galat put Mount Airy hustlers to shame.

Seniors rejoice on a perfect winter day as they rest between activities.

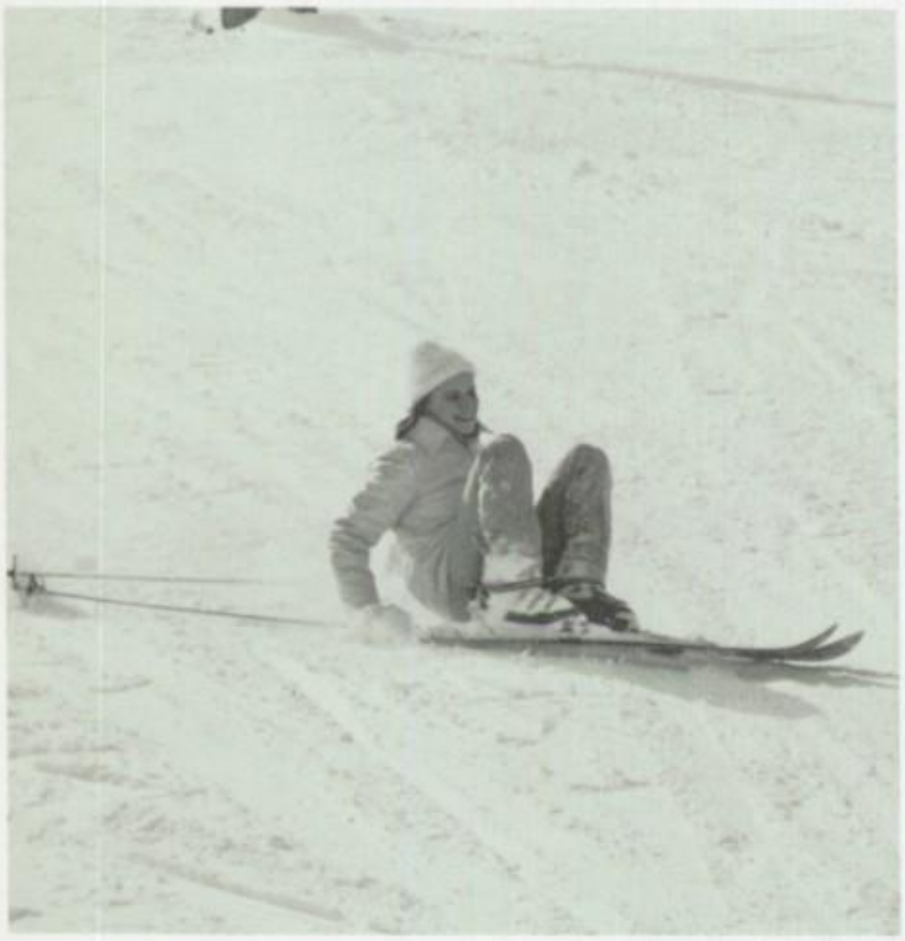
Waiting for dessert, Debbie Gould, Cathy Condry, and Ann Zuchoski look forward to the afternoon events.

The quiet atmosphere of lunch gives Peggy Krupa, Judy Coledo, Annie Maleta, Lou Ann Dougher, Rosie Syroid, and Cathy Curry time to relax after a very hectic morning.

After surviving his trip down the slopes Jim Lambert makes an expert stop.

A casual lunch is enjoyed by Mike Kosin, Barbara Fedak, and Ed Leslie.

Ken Konopka gets a lift.



Bottoms up! LuAnn McDonald develops a new method of skiing.

Before getting involved in the day's activities, Pam Aiello, Elaine Sauerwein, Lorraine Shea and Marie Sepela get their bearings at Mt. Airy.

Hoban's own Pocono Snow Bunnies!

Ron Ott and Joe Carr receive directions on how to operate snow mobiles.

"It's cake, you guys," says Mike Columbus to Nick Sura and Pat Farrell.

Ready for their first skiing lesson, Tony Magdalinski and Steve Olshefski are about to hit the slopes.

Seniors join crowds at Mt. Airy

Participation in the chorus is strong thanks to the enthusiastic boys in the freshman-sophomore group.

With so many ninth and tenth grade girls sharing their talents it is not surprising that the result is an enjoyable experience for the people who attend the concert each year.

While preparing for the annual concert, junior and senior boys find the combination of fun and hard work rewarding.

Successful musical tradition continues

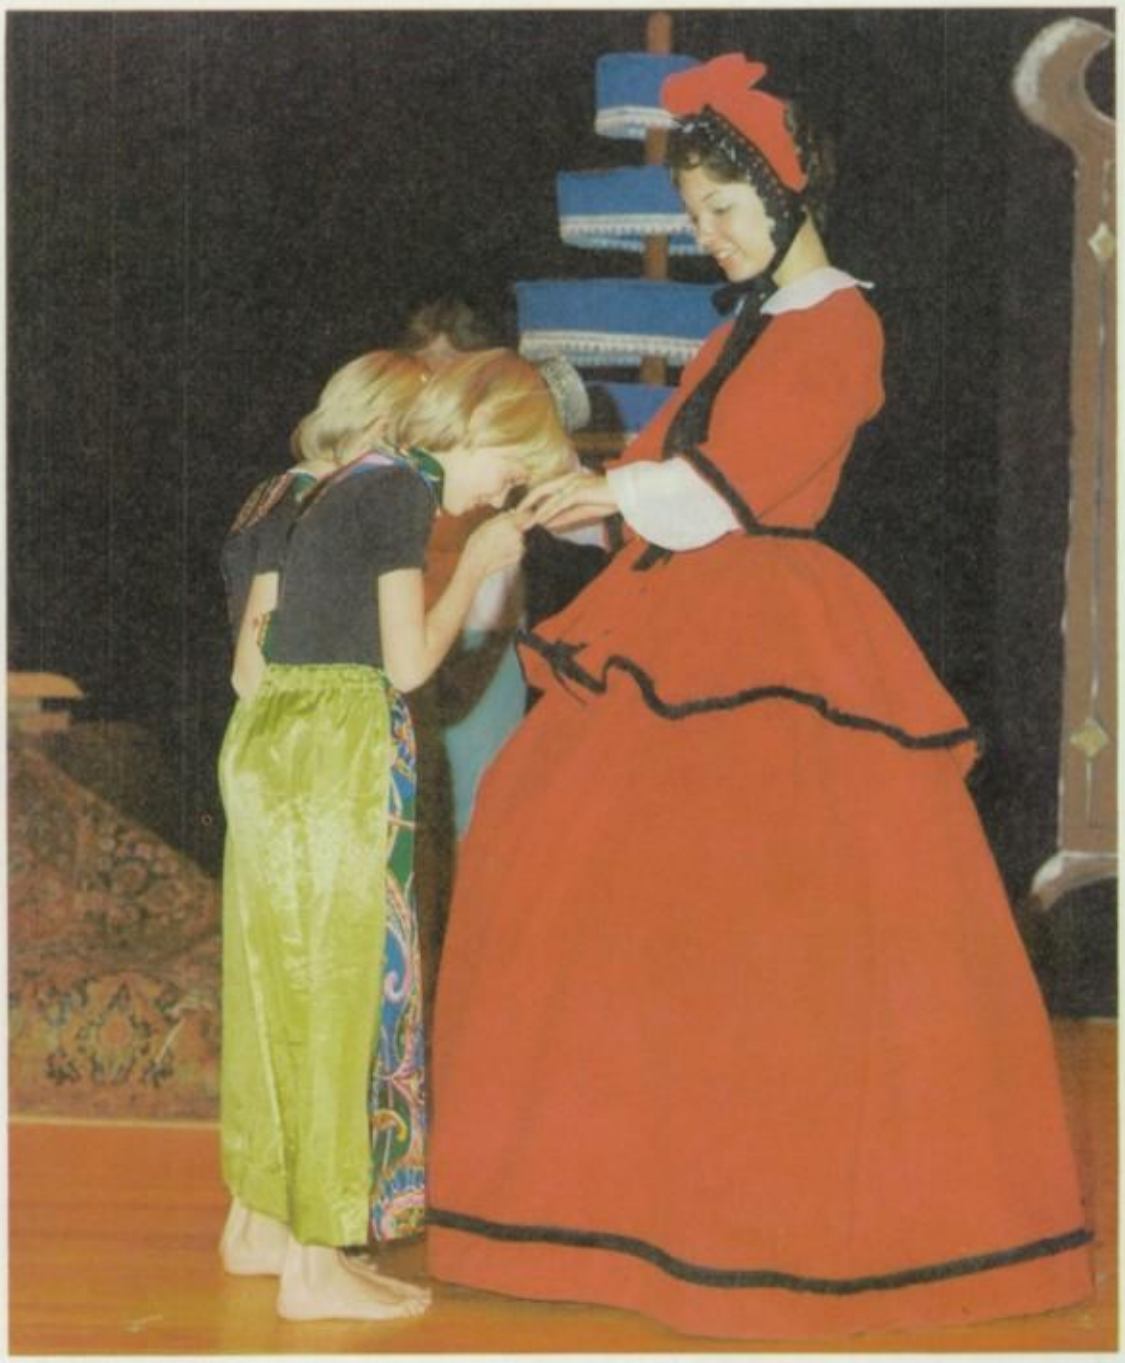
For the fourth year in a row the talents of Hoban's students and faculty were put together and the result was once again an astounding musical presentation. The first weekend in December marked the climax of months of hard work and preparation involving many creative people.

Rogers and Hammerstein's THE KING AND I, under the skillful direction of Sister Mariella, SCC, brought the vibrant and exotic characteristics of the Eastern Oriental culture to the Hoban stage. William Lopatto and Susan Nied thrilled the audiences with their performances of the king and Mrs. Anna Leonowens. Along with the two leads, the entire cast demonstrated their talents in the superb adaptation of the popular musical.

No musical could succeed without music, but as usual this proved no problem for Mrs. Carmella Faust who coordinated all the musical aspects of the play.

Miss Patricia Ritchie directed the many beautiful dancing scenes which added to the popularity of the production.

The casting, music, singing, dancing, scenery and extravagent costumes combined to delight audiences and make Hoban's presentation of THE KING AND I second to none.



Two of the King's many children (Cecile and Cheryl Brodhead) formally greet their English school teacher Mrs. Anna Leonowens (Sue Nied).

Lun Tha (Paul Blaum) brings the king a gift from his country. The gift is in the form of a young lady, Tuptim, (Bea Cravatta) who is carried in by slaves Jim Shea, Mike Columbus, Tom McGinley and Pete Gallagher.

The King (William Lopatto) assumes his usual stern manner as his many wives await his command.

Tuptim, Louie (Andy Kurovsky), Prince Chululongkorn (Mark Letoski) and the King's wives and children listen attentively as Mrs. Anna explains a geography lesson.

Many hours of work by dedicated

Sister Mariella and Miss Patti Ritchie direct some changes in a dance scene as the opening date draws near.

Cast member Rich Youngblood practices a scene with some of the young girls from St. Nicholas-St. Mary's, Holy Saviour and St. Aloysius grade schools. The youngest members of the cast portrayed the King's children.

people result in another triumph

Play director, Sister Mariella and music director, Mrs. Faust finalize the plans for the first presentation of THE KING AND I.

Hoban's talented orchestra contributed greatly to the play's success.

In an effort to impress the visiting English dignitaries Tuptim (Bea Cravatta) tells the story of the "Small House of Uncle Thomas" as the King's wives look on.

In a beautiful ballet scene Little Eva (Sue Piernikowski) and Topsy (Debbie Gryzmski) enact the story being told by Tuptim.

Angel George (Carol Elgonitis) appears to aide Eliza (Tami Alesson) who is threatened by Simon of Legree.

Play fosters talent, beauty, style, etc., etc., etc.

Mrs. Anna relaxes outside her bedroom as she smiles thinking "Shall I Tell You What I Think of You?"

The King lies near death as his son, Louie, Mrs. Anna Leonowens, Phra Alack (Francis Raitter) and his most loyal friend, the Krahlahome, (Frank Werhun) gather round him.

For the second consecutive year THE FOURTH ESTATE captured the best overall high school newspaper award at the Wilkes College Journalism Workshop. In addition to this the paper was awarded the Keystone rating by the Pennsylvania School Press Association.

Jackie Lyons and Gary Yenkowski served as the first junior co-editors of the paper. During the year they directed the staff and combined their talents to produce a professional newspaper. Mr. Michael Booth advised the staff on matters of layout, style and general newspaper editing.

In early October, Mr. Booth and a number of staff members attended a Journalism Workshop sponsored by Bloomsburg State College.

As the dance draws to a close, friends gather to discuss the evening.

Mel McCarthy and Mike Columbus take time to relax knowing that the entire evening was very successful.

Faculty members share in the festivities of the evening.

Following dinner many of those attending the hop rested briefly before beginning a long night of dancing.

Harvest Time Hop highlights season

Highlighting the evening was the naming of Sharon Polacheck as queen of the hop. She was presented a bouquet of roses by her escort, John Schumacher.

An evening of dancing to Bingo's Diesel and warm friendship was enjoyed by all on November 14 as a capacity crowd of 180 couples attended the student council's annual semi-formal. The American Legion Post rocked with music from 8:30-11:30.

Table decorations furnished by student council members added to the festive mood of the Harvest Time Hop. Mike Columbus and Mary Ellen McCarthy served as chairpersons of the dance.

During the evening Sharon Polacheck was named queen of the hop. She and her escort John Schumacher both received gifts.

For the second year in a row the student council semi-formal proved to be a huge success.

Hoban's powerful Tom McGinley takes to the water naturally as shown by his pool records and numerous victories.

Coach Higgins and freshman Frank Hoegen cheer for another Argent first place.

The Argent swimming dynasty strengthened as the boys continued to build an amazing number of victories. Stamina and skill characterized the swimmers as Head Coach Jim Higgins led the team to its fourth consecutive Valley Conference title and District II title. Mr. William Milz replaced Mr. Kundrot as assistant coach.

Tri-captains Tom McGinley, Ron Ott, and Paul Blaum along with the other members of the team proved themselves worthy of their distinction as the number one team in Northeastern Pennsylvania. Dedication is synonymous with the boys swim team. Long, hard hours of practice before and after school contribute to their extraordinary success. Pool and school records were shattered as the season progressed. The season climaxed with Hoban again defeating their strongest rival, Abington Heights.

Tom McGinley set two new District II records. Hoban's senior divers Bob Ambrose and Joe Malloy placed first and second and underclassman divers Jim Panzitta and Dan Polnesak placed in the top six. Other winners in District II included Ron Ott, Paul Blaum, Ron Kline, Tom Austin, Gerry Ott, Tom Molitoris and Clyde Solt.

Going on to state competition, Tom McGinley captured two state championships winning the 100 and 50 yard freestyle events bringing great honor to himself, Bishop Hoban High School and all of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

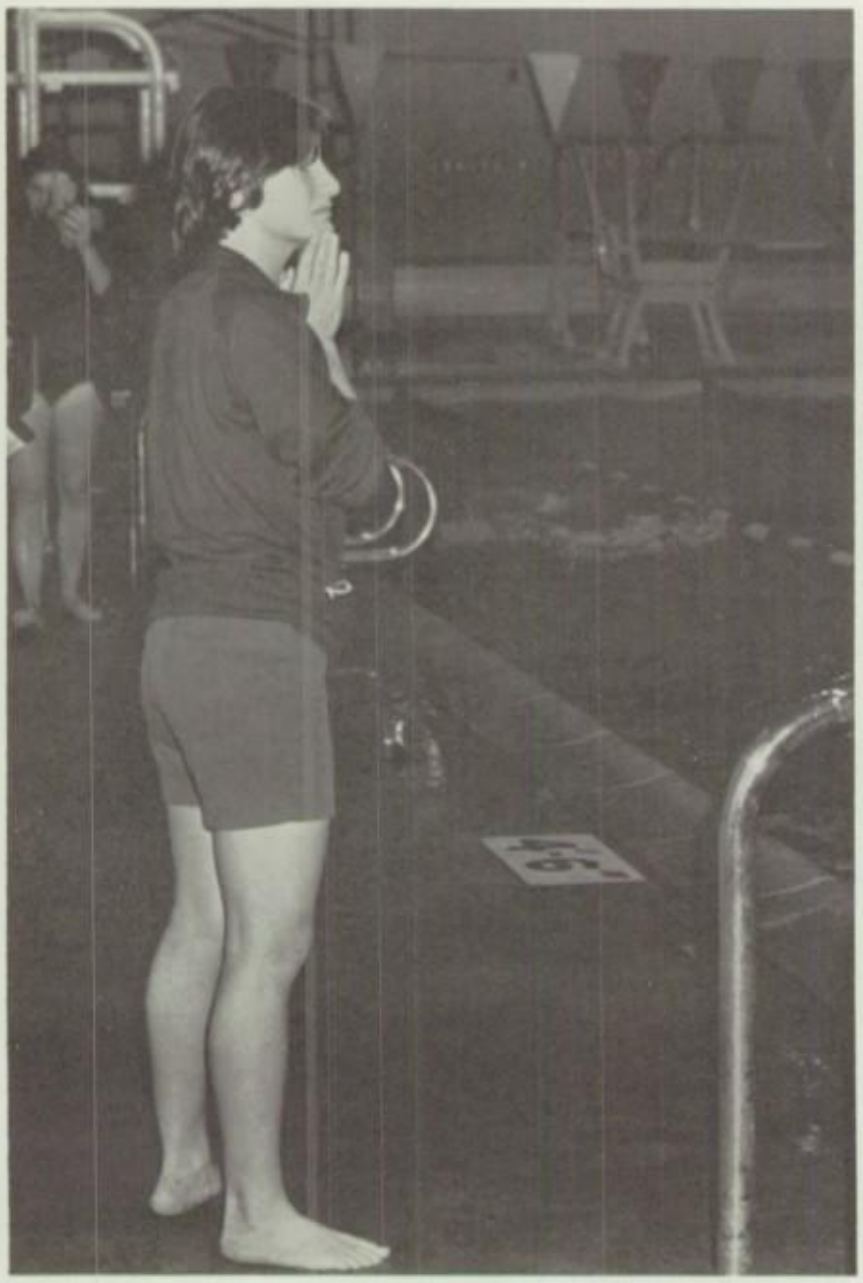
Bishop Hoban's girls swim team made a fine showing in the Valley Conference. Finishing the season with a 11-7 record the girls proved to be formidable opponents. The number of meets increased by five this year as the Valley League grew.

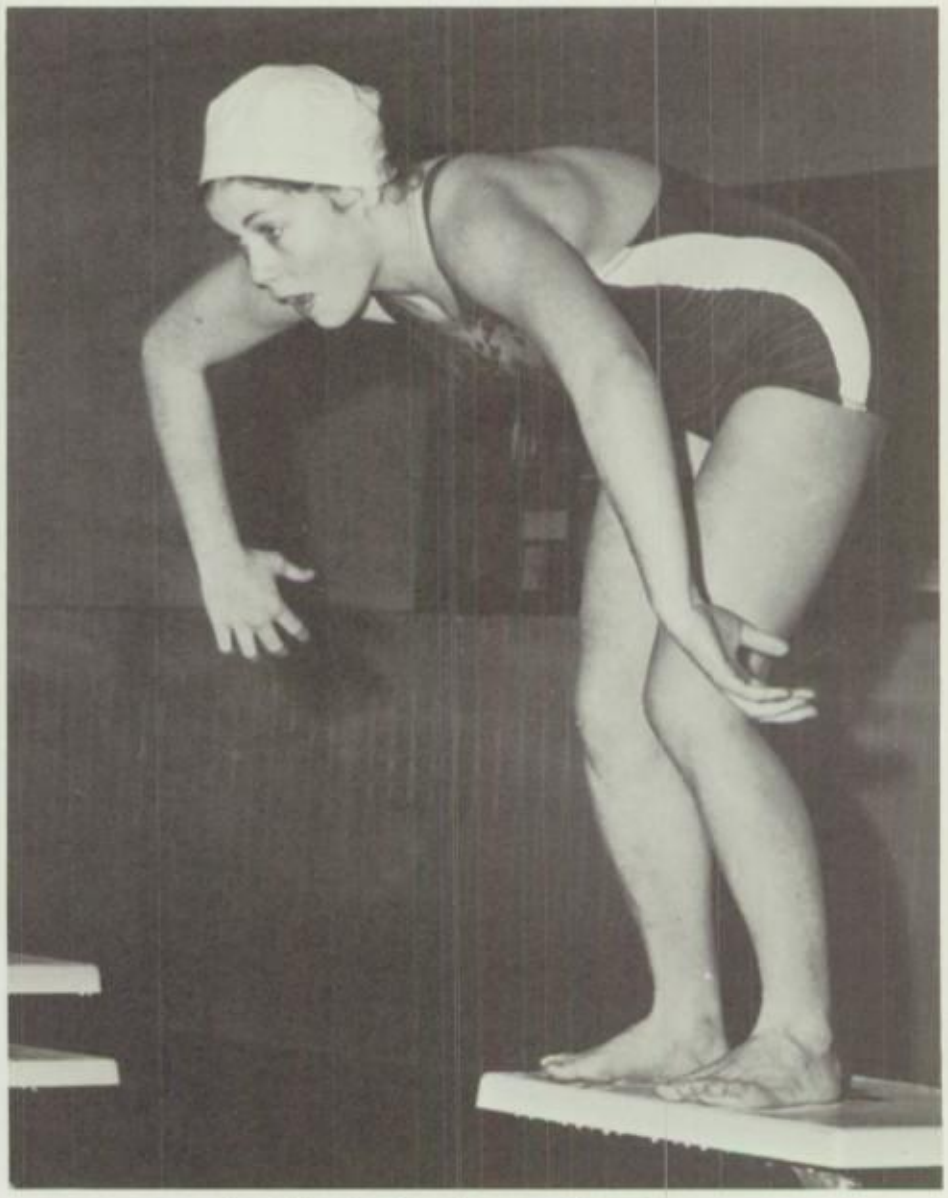
Mrs. Susan Bosher was very successful in her first year as coach, leading the way for the returning members of the team and stressing the basics for new team members.

A number of outstanding swimmers fought hard to keep Hoban among the top-rated teams. Co-captains LuAnn McDonald, and Susan Youngblood and team members Jane Monahan, Amy Hackmeister, Bonny McDonald, Maria DeRojas, and Kelly Girmen consistently contributed to the team's success. Eileen Woods proved to be one of the area's outstanding divers. In District II Eileen took second place and then moved on to the State Finals at Penn State University.

Serving as co-captains of the girls swim team this year were Suzanne Youngblood and LuAnn McDonald.



Mrs. Bosher experiences some tense moments as the girls go into the final laps.



A confident Jane Monahan gets set for a fast start.

A close finish brings a variety of reactions from the girls as they wait for the results.

This year's varsity team proved why basketball is one of Hoban's most popular sports. The Argents did not face an opponent, either home or away, without a valiant fight and a fine showing of talent.

Coach Chet Hine ended his fifth season as varsity coach with a 14-9 record. At Christmas the Argents captured first place in the annual CYC McGrane Tournament after defeating city rivals G.A.R. and Meyers.

An exciting season resulted as many high caliber teams met in the strong Wyoming Valley League. The Argents faced a bruising schedule meeting Meyers, Valley West and Nanticoke in three consecutive games. Despite the height advantage these teams had, the Hoban squad never called it quits.

Jim Shea led the team and was consistent in playing both offense and defense. Other high scorers who contributed to the successful season included junior Mike Keeney and sophomore Bill Thornton. Seniors Mike McGraw, Mark Petrosky and Gary McKenna rounded out the experienced players who will graduate this year. The '77 team was young and as a result Hoban should be a strong contender for the title next year.

Neither rain, nor snow, nor sleet, nor O'Reilly defense can stop Jim Shea from getting through for two.

Coach James Maloney's mixture of juniors and sophomores blended together to end with an admirable 10-4 record during the regular season play. In second half competition the J.V. team lost only to Nanticoke. In first half action two of the team's three losses were to Coughlin by one point and Wyoming by three, which is a good indication of the strength of the Hoban squad.

Outstanding junior players Mike Toole, Tom Leighton and Paul Kempinski, and sophomores John Grochowski, Mark Allen, and Norman John move to fulltime varsity action next season supporting the efforts of the already strong returning varsity members.

The "baby" Argents finished their league play with a fantastic 16-2 record. Joining the coaching staff this year and guiding the youngest team to their District II play-off berth was Mr. Larry Walko. In his first year coaching, Mr. Walko worked hard to develop a first-rate squad.

The starting five included Mike Banas, Joe Koval, Stan Kucewicz, Joe Mocion, and Joe Slavoski. Their speed and accurate shooting abilities were crucial and the strong bench aided in many of the team's victories.

With the balanced team effort and the asset of talented players and coaches Bishop Hoban can look very optimistically to its next few years on the courts.

Hoban girls triumph again in CYC tourney

Hoban's girls once again began the basketball season by capturing the first place trophy in the CYC's annual McGrane Tournament. Displaying strength and ability, the girls had little difficulty in defeating Coughlin in the final round of the tournament. Girls disappointed despite winning season

After grappling for the ball Sue Wajers and Gloria Pasternick wait to see what the referee will call.

The girls basketball team, considered to be a major contender for this year's title, had to settle for an 8-6 record. Hard-hitting opponents, injuries and lack of support all combined to undermine the Argent efforts.

This year's competitive spirit can best be shown by the four-way tie for second place which occurred early in the second half. The Hoban team, though included in that tie situation, was unable to pool its talents and overcome the opposition. Injuries to top players Sue Malenovitch and Joan Bush did not help the girls' struggle.

The biggest complaint from the girls and Miss Lugiano, who always manages to produce a strong team, was the lack of attendance or support from their fellow Hobanites.

Though the season was somewhat disappointing for the girls they did achieve a winning record.

FOOTBALL COACHING STAFF: Mr. Frank Trebendis, Mr. Joseph Faust, Mr. Henry Moriarty, head coach, Mr. Robert Krehely, Mr. Gil Griffiths.

Argents finish frustrating season

Jerry Yozwiak and Joe Wilk discuss strategy before the game begins.

Head Coach Henry Moriarty suffered many irritating moments in his first season leading the Argent team. Facing some of the strongest competition the Wyoming Valley Conference has seen in years, the Argents simply could not overcome their opponents. Defensively, the players just could not get it together and came away from most of the games very disappointed. Injuries also hampered the team and affected their scoring drives.

Though many hours were spent in practice and the spirit was high and endurance and skills were not lacking, the Argents faced defeat in each game. There were many fine individual performances at any given game. One of the best team efforts was against rival Bishop O'Reilly. During this game the Argents scored twice as both the offense and defense seemed to come to life. The Hoban team also scored against a strong Pittston Area team. The varsity team will face the loss of a large number of seniors and with this loss must again begin to rebuild.

The Cross Country team experienced a very rewarding season with a 7-5 record. Making a comeback from last year they brought their record to five out of six winning seasons. They placed fifth in the class AAA districts. The Argent runners were challenged by stiff competition and were successful in the meet with cross-river rival, Bishop O'Reilly. Senior lettermen Dennis Reinhard, Tom Burke and Tom Snee played an important role in the team's success. Joining the team this year was Hoban's Japanese exchange student, Yuichi Suda. Bishop Hoban proved a very strong contender throughout the season. With a majority of the runners returning next year, Coach Kevin Davenport anticipates another strong season.

Leo Kucewicz and Gary Yenkowski get set for action.

The slugging Argents were again among the top contenders in the league. Mr. James Maloney, head coach, led the Hoban baseball team successfully into another season of tough competition. The young and eager team members gained experience and seniors Bill Koscinski, Ed Leslie, Mark Pekol, Leo Kucewicz, and John Yenchak added their knowledge of the game to make for a rewarding season. Assistant coaches Robert Krehely and Paul Evans worked with the J.V. and freshman teams teaching them the basics and preparing them for future championships at Hoban.

Coach Judy Lugiano led her young team onto the diamond and impressed all of the opponents with the girls' skill and spirit. The hard work of all the girls involved, evident in their practices, no doubt contributed to the team's success. The team pulled together to defeat strong opponents. The spirit was strong as seniors Sue Malenovitch, Maureen Morriken, Gloria Pasternick, and Mary Ellen Baker set the example for the underclassmen to follow.

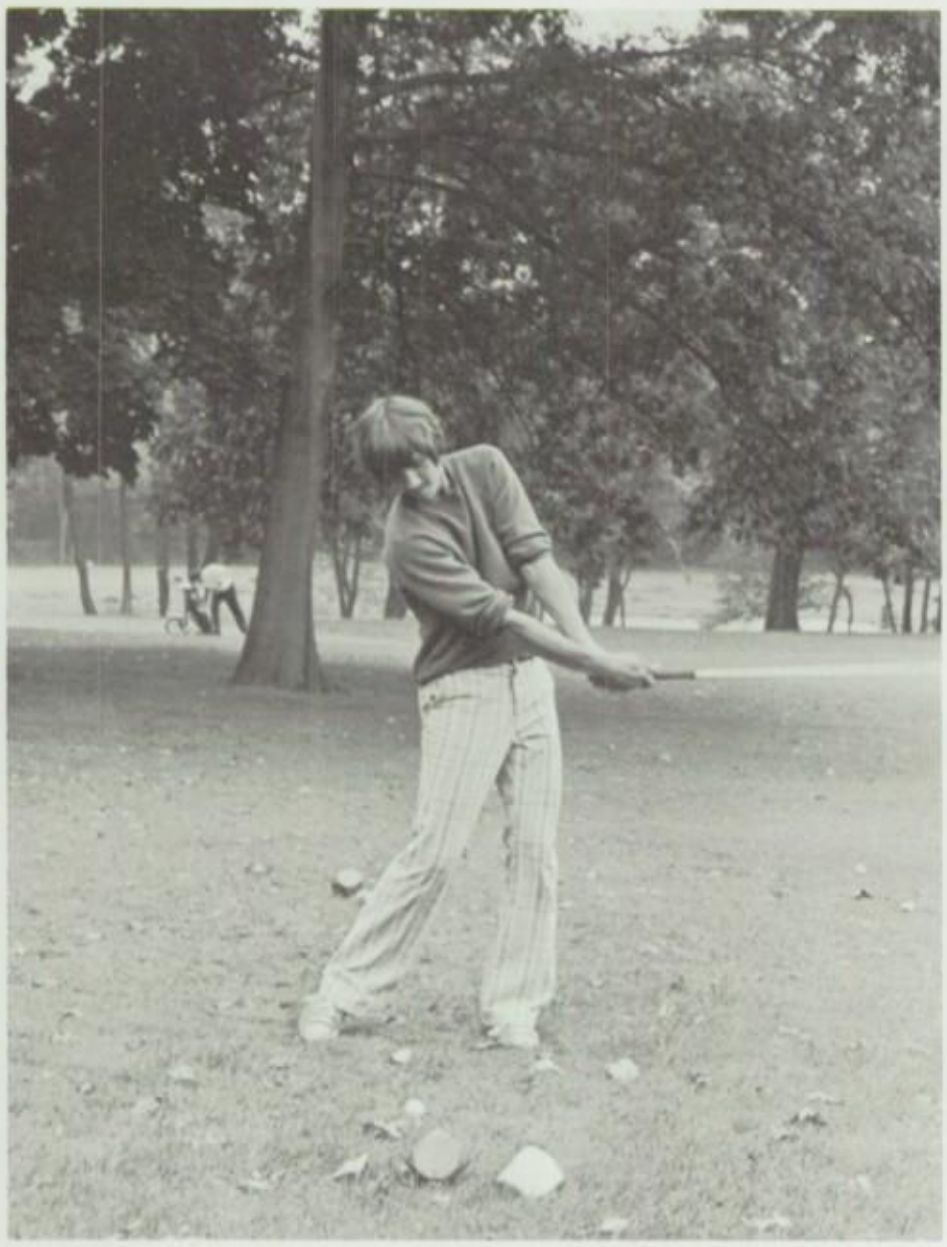
Following weeks of practice Hoban's duffers enjoyed a fine season of competitive golf. Senior golfers Rob Rundle and Dave Klem, along with Mr. Matysczak and the other members of the team met two opponents a week. This fast-paced schedule proved no problem for the Argents. The team finished their first half with a 3-3 record with one of those being a loss by one point to Coughlin. The Argents moved into their second half competition improving their earlier record and defeating all three city rivals.



Bob Isbitski puts power behind his swing.

Bill Thornton watches his ball disappear in the woods.

Victories were hard to come by this year as the grapplers faced stiff competition. Long, hard practice sessions resulted in wins over Scranton Tech, Bishop O'Reilly and Pittston Area. Man to man competition makes the sport one of the roughest.

Although the opponents were stronger and more experienced marked improvement in the overall team effort was evident.

Senior letterman Dave Choman completed the season in the heavy weight rank with a sensational overall record.

Coach Malia has a young team and the future looks bright. Experience will be an asset in the 77-78 season. Juniors Jerry O'Hara and Len Yanovich had a successful season with indications of the same next year.

looking to the future

Seniors

To become a senior is to begin making the transition from the carefreeness of ideology to the responsibility of reality. You reenter the world into which you were born, but in a new light now. The cycle of life is carrying you out of the security of certainty into the solitude of choice. The spirit and mind mature and you begin to see what constitutes the individuality of the person you are. You find yourself caught up in the excitement of graduation. The world and life itself are now seen in a different light. You begin to determine your own destiny. Life is a challenge. Many things are yet to be discovered, experienced, remembered, and treasured. The world is open to be seen and you are now soon to become a functioning adult. You must step forward with confidence and trust, express yourself and gain respect. Thank God for the gift of your life and make the best of it so that someday you may return a life that is unique and serve as homage to its Creator.

An Argent

. . . what you make it to be. As an established title itself, "Argent" fulfills its initial conception as an identifying name for the school. However, the title alone holds no meaning until the individuals who have taken on its responsibility give it life. By providing the purpose and interest necessary for giving character to the title "Argent," the spirit indicative of the school is created.

is . . .

To be an Argent is to sow seeds of determination, interest, and devotion even if you reap failure along with success. Mutual spirit should eminate from those who actively participate in the school's activities and from those who actively support these activities. Thus, an Argent is a spirit, a belief, a purpose, an individual, a team — all combined to create the character of the school and the students of Bishop Hoban High School.
